Football in Dominica

Football is by far and away the number one sport on the tiny island of Dominica. The national association is extremely active and, together with FIFA and the Olympic Solidarity of the International Olympic Committee, holds regular courses for coaches. Many projects in youth football are also in the pipeline. But despite all of their efforts, success has not come the way of Dominica. But with sustained development work, it is hoped that this will soon change – at least on a local level.

The first Goal Project

The association's new headquarters in Roseau, financed by Goal and the FIFA Financial Assistance Programme, opened their doors on 28 December 2003. The new home of the association is the epicentre of footballing activities in this Caribbean nation. Staff who had previously worked in cramped offices now enjoy a much-improved working environment. «The Dominica Football Association believes that all areas of football, both on and off the pitch, as well as at youth and women's level, will benefit from our Goal project,» enthused the association's president, Patrick R. John. The new headquarters are known as the «House of Football».

Second Goal project

Two years after the inauguration of the association headquarters in Roseau, on 15 March 2006 the Goal Bureau approved a project designed to help active participants in football - a training centre for players, teams and officials to stage workshops and seminars. The project is being financed by Goal and the FIFA Financial Assistance Programme.

Women's football

When, in 1995, today's FIFA President said "The future of football is feminine", it was more than mere lip service. It reflected a strong belief in the huge potential that women's football has to develop. Ever since, FIFA has given targeted support for the efforts of associations who offer women the same opportunities to develop as male players. Launched in 1998, FIFA's Financial Assistance Programme (FAP) introduced a requirement in 2004 for the associations and confederations to invest at least 4% of their FAP funding into women's football. This threshold was increased to 10% in 2005. On top of this commitment, FIFA also promotes the women's game in more general ways by directly financing women's matches and organising competitions and symposiums. Thanks to its development programmes, FIFA is also playing an active role in the training of administrators, coaches, referees and sports doctors.
