

- Association founded 1914
- Affiliated to FIFA 1954

Flag

Association emblem

World map

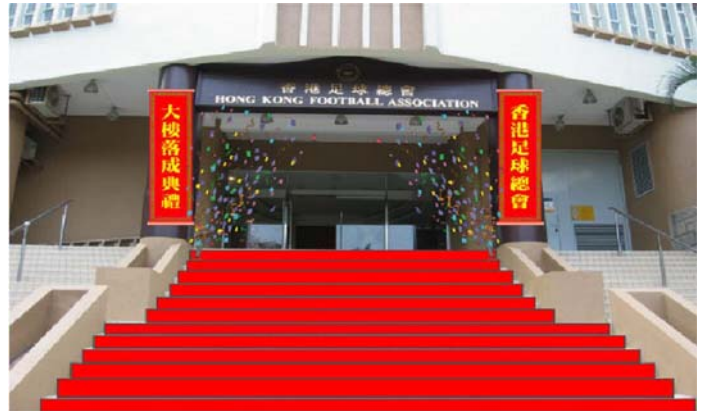

Football in Hong Kong

It should come as no surprise that football is the most popular sport in this former British colony. The sheer number of activities and the considerable administrative influence that the tiny territory, now once more under Chinese rule, has exerted on international football over the last 30 years bear testimony to football's standing in Hong Kong. Persons such as honorary FIFA member Henry Fok, his son Timothy (a long-standing member of the Organising Committee for the Olympic Football Tournaments) and long-serving AFC General Secretary Lee Wai Tong are also the embodiment of a healthy footballing scene, as shown by the number of surprise results that Hong Kong have recorded in Asian qualifying matches.

The Goal Project

On 22 September 2004, the Goal Bureau endorsed plans to renovate the headquarters of the Hong Kong Football Association. The building has not been renovated since it was built 25 years ago. Structural changes will open up additional office space and greatly enhance working conditions for the staff of the association.

Financing of Goal project

Project

Renovation of association headquarters in Hong Kong

Project approved

22 September 2004

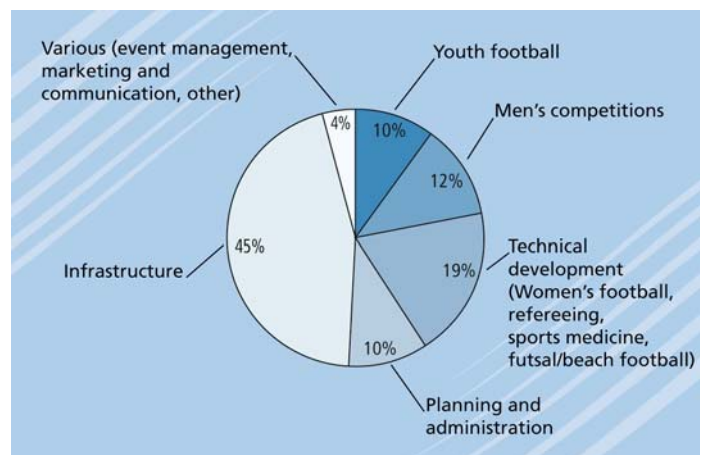

Status

Opened on 28 January 2006

Financed by

Goal	USD	400,000
FAP	USD	406,923
Total cost	USD	806,923

Use of FAP funds

Football education and courses	No of courses until 1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004	2005	2006	2007	2008	2009	2010
	FUTURO III regional courses
Refereeing (men and women)
Coaching (men)															●
Coaching (women)
Administration and management																			●
Football medicine
Seminars
Women's football
Futsal
Com-Unity																	●
MA Seminars
MA courses
Administration
Refereeing (men and women)			●		●										●	●		●	●
Coaching (men and women)
Beach soccer
Futsal
Olympic solidarity coaching courses
Development courses and academies (1975 - 1990)	2	●									●
FUTURO I-II courses for all football branches

●: Course host country □: Course participant in another country

Women's football

When, in 1995, today's FIFA President said "The future of football is feminine", it was more than mere lip service. It reflected a strong belief in the huge potential that women's football has to develop. Ever since, FIFA has given targeted support for the efforts of associations who offer women the same opportunities to develop as male players. Launched in 1998, FIFA's Financial Assistance Programme (FAP) introduced a requirement in 2004 for the associations and confederations to invest at least 4% of their FAP funding into women's football. This threshold was increased to 10% in 2005. On top of this commitment, FIFA also promotes the women's game in more general ways by directly financing women's matches and organising competitions and symposiums. Thanks to its development programmes, FIFA is also playing an active role in the training of administrators, coaches, referees and sports doctors.

Does an organised women's football set-up exist?	yes
If so, since when?	1960
From which age on, players are registered?	6
Women's teams (open or over 16 years)	12
Women's teams (below 16 years, youth)	2
National competition (or women's league)	yes
Regional competitions	no
University competitions	yes
School competitions	yes
Futsal competitions	n/a
National "A" team	n/a
National youth teams: age categories	n/a

The Women's U-19 team from Hong Kong